Special sweats

During a one-session class offered by Romulus Community Schools Adult Education, participants hand-crafted individual sweatshirt designs. After designing a flower pattern on special fabric, the students carefully cut it out and ironed it on their sweatshirts. Although the process was time consuming, most of the participants seemed content with the end products. Mary Jane Witlowski (left) and Paulette Knilety took special care with their patterns.

Future of old high school sparks debate

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Residents concerned about the future of the first Romulus high school building crowded Romulus city council chambers at the regular meeting Monday evening.

The building, at 11401 Olive Street, has been empty since June when the Beacon Day Treatment Center was moved to another district. Built in 1930, the facility had served as a senior and junior high school until the late 1970s. Until recently, the facility hosted adult and special education prob-

After inviting the public to two meetings this summer to discuss options for the building, school district officials have indicated the building will probably be demolished. It contains asbestos and needs repairs to the roof and boiler, according to inspection reports.

Many of the people at the meeting hoped to convince city officials to accept a district offer and purchase the building for $1. They also asked that the heat in the building be left on to prevent further damage. With enough time and resources, the residents said, the building could be repaired and a new use could be found.

Leading the group were - Gloria Chandler, Kristine DeTroyer and Helen Hay. Determined to preserve what they see as a historic site, the women began circulating petitions last week. They presented city council with 454 signatures.

When they addressed city council, the women elaborated on a detailed letter they sent to all elected officials in the city. The letter contains three pages of suggested uses for the building, including a recreation and meeting center.

"We realize the building is...a financial burden to the school system," DeTroyer said.

A $2 million cost has been estimated to renovate the building she said, relying on figures used during the public hearings on the facility. DeTroyer added that a new recreation center proposed for the city has been estimated at $9 million. She suggested the old high school is a more logical site and volunteered her efforts to secure funding for such a project.

In addition, the asbestos in the building must be removed, probably at a high cost, even if the building is demolished, DeTroyer said.

Hay emphasized her support of the suggestion to convert the building into a recreation center.

Her proposal met with some opposition from other members of the audience, however, who suggested that demolition of the building would provide for further residential development. The commotion a recreation center might bring to the neighborhood was also expressed as a concern by some citizens who claimed such a facility might attract unruly teens.

After nearly an hour of debate, council members approved a resolution asking the Romulus school board to delay demolition until they can meet with council and discuss options for the building.

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry pointed out that the school issue is really a matter for the school board.

The residents agreed addressing the board would probably be their next step. Hay said a joint effort by board members, city council and local residents is necessary to save the school.

Raspberry urges council to 'sink' drain-improvement plan

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Debate regarding proposed improvements to the Ecorse Creek drain continued at the regular meeting of the Romulus City Council members Monday evening.

Following a heated public hearing Oct. 9, members of the council approved a resolution authorizing the city assessor to compile a tax roll for the district which is to be presented at the second public hearing regarding the issue.

At the meeting this week, however, Councilman Jimmie Raspberry, who made the original motion for the resolution, suggested that councilmembers reverse that decision. His motion met with no support. The council can still veto the project by a majority vote following the next public hearing.

The proposed assessment district would affect property on the north and south sides of Smith Road, extending from Wayne Road to east of Merri-man. The area would be bounded by Ecorse Road, I-94 and Ecorse Creek.

Proposed is an underground storm drain and a retention pond, which would serve the entire area. The pond would be located on city property.

Future additions would include a section of open channel to carry water from the creek to the enclosed area.

Total costs for the proposed project are estimated at $5.9 million which would be divided among the county, city and property owners based on a benefit factor. Following the directive of the council, the city assessor is presently calculating a detailed report of the costs.

Planners for the project say the drain and regional pond would encourage development in the area and eliminate the need for each developer to establish individual retention ponds.

Residents in the proposed district have objected to the proposal, claiming they do not want to pay additional taxes for a project that will not help them. Many claim the project will be an inconvenience. The property owners who stand to gain the most, they said, are large commercial developers.

After considering these concerns, Raspberry said his support of the resolution was a mistake.

"I request to council to rescind this resolution because the $5.9 million burden on the people in the affected area amounts to what Hurricane Hugo did for South Carolina," the councilman said prior to

College program has local roots

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

A teacher education program now in operation at several area colleges and universities began as the idea of a Romulus school administrator.

The Urban Teacher program was designed to create qualified teachers and substitute teachers willing to work in urban district. It involves a well-planned curriculum, urban teachers acting as mentors and extensive field work in the classroom. UTP is a cooperative program of Wayne County Community College, Eastern Michigan University, the Michigan State Department of Education and urban school districts.

"My original idea was to fill the building up. It's a beautiful building, and it's under-utilized."

— William Bedell
Superintendent

One of the people who helped plan this program is William Bedell, superintendent of Romulus Community Schools.

His first ideas for the program were initiated nearly three years ago when he toured the western campus of WCCC in Van Buren Township.

"My original idea was to fill the building up," Bedell said. "It's a beautiful building, and it's under-utilized."

Eventually, the proposed program evolved to allow WCCC to provide the first two years of classes in the UTP. Most of the second two years would be spent at the Eastern Michigan campus.

Students earn an associate's degree in teaching after two years in the program and can then begin to fill teaching gaps while they serve internships.

Participants will also fill a need for substitute teachers, Bedell said. With approval from faculty and staff, third- and fourth-year students may act as substitute teachers.

These students may become "regulars" in a particular school, creating an easier situation for themselves and their classes.

In addition, Bedell said, area schools often find it difficult to recruit qualified minorities for teaching positions. This program may help.

Tied in with the program are financial aid opportunities—students may apply for federal funds, a work/study program and scholarships through the WCCC Foundation. The UTP is partially funded through a Michigan Department of Education Office of Minority Equity grant.

Students from this program are expected to filter into Romulus schools within the next year or two, Bedell said.

Legislator discusses drugs, development

By TERRY JACOBY
ANP Staff Writer

Like many Democrats across the country, U.S. Rep. William D. Ford believes President George Bush isn't being tough enough with his war on drugs. The Michigan congressman went so far as to say he would support a tax increase to help "make a significant impact on the drug problem."

Ford, whose 15th congressional district includes Canton Township, Romulus, Wayne, Westland, Van Buren Township and Sumpter Township, believes people would support the tax hike if they were assured the money was being used in the drug effort.

"I don't believe the president's drug program is ambitious enough," Ford said. "There isn't a community in the 15th district that doesn't have a drug problem. And it's a problem that affects everyone."

"But we can't fight something with nothing. We have to pay if we want take on the drug problem and have an impact on the drug problem."

Ford (D-Taylor) said the president wants to take money away from other programs to fund the drug effort, such as education, but won't make cuts in the defense budget.

Ford said something has to give.

"We can't just keep borrowing and adding to our deficit," he said. "I don't think anyone in the House of Representatives is going to step out ahead of the president and suggest a tax increase. But I don't believe we can keep borrowing money from education and welfare programs."

The deficit is a major concern for Ford, and he would hope that if the president wants to buy two Stealth Bombers, he would pay for them.

"If the President says he wants to buy two Stealth Bombers, he should say, that he was willing to pay for them," Ford said. "Since the early days of Reagan, this country has been running on a credit card. The moment of truth is, who is going to pay for these planes? Are we going to have our grandchildren paying for everything?"

Ford was visiting his Wayne office Friday when he took the opportunity to meet with reporters. He discussed the drug problem as well as other issues affecting residents in his district.

Ford and U.S. Rep. John Dingell (16th district) recently announced that $5 million in federal funds were approved for the continuation of major access improvement projects at Detroit Metropolitan Airport. The money is included in the fiscal year 1990 appropriations bill for the Department of Transportation.

Ford said the federal money will be utilized to begin work on a new airport entrance to provide access from the south and east. The new entrance, which will be off Eureka Road, between Wayne and Merriman, is a major segment of a planned $1 billion improvement program.

The road would be located mainly on airport property and pass under two runways, and would lead to a new midfield terminal.

"Metro Airport is a major commercial and employment center for all of southeastern Michigan," Ford said. "These funds will help Metro's growth continue and make even more jobs available. This is a good use of tax dollars that Michigan is sending to Washington, as our state's economy and our people will benefit directly.

"The Metro Airport improvements could become a model as other major airports consider changing to the mid-field terminal concept."

Grant is sought

If the Conference of Western Wayne is successful in its application for a state Quality of Life grant, an educational program dealing with recycling strategies could be implemented in the 17 member communities.

Sandy Altschul, CWW solid waste coordinator, reported at the Oct. 13 meeting that an application for grant funds has been submitted to the state. Funding for successful grant applications will be made in October, 1990.

If approved, the Resource Recovery Education project, would enable the CWW to initiate an area educational program to reduce, reuse and recycle, Altschul said.

The program would be brought to the public through local access cable television, a speakers' bureau, poster campaign and promotional brochures. Other materials promoting recycling and waste reduction methods also would be developed, Altschul said.

Is another airport necessary?

By DANIEL CALABRESE
ANP Staff Writer

Economics will be the key in a regional study of airports, according to one local mayor.

Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally is serving on the committee studying airport development for the Southeast Michigan Coalition of Governments.

According to McAnally, the only reliable prediction about the study is that economics will be a key factor in the formulation of whether more airports should be established in the area.

"The enormous cost of infrastructure to serve any community is only more costly if you have to duplicate it," McAnally said.

SEMOG is a coalition of elected officials at the county and municipal levels from Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, St. Clair, Livingston, Washtenaw and Monroe counties.

The SEMCOG committee has had only one meeting so far, McAnally said, and it is difficult to predict what direction the committee will take, or what effect possible conclusions could have on the role of Detroit Metropolitan Airport in Romulus.

"What I think may come out of it is that some of the activities, like cargo, will go into other areas," McAnally said.

If the committee believes that cargo activities should be increasingly shifted to other airports, she said, it would result in Metro becoming more exclusively a passenger airport.

"But I can't make that conclusion because I don't know the economics of it," McAnally said.

The SEMCOG study is the first regional airport study since 1959. Officials of the group expect the study to have a tremendous impact on the future of airports in the area.

Implementation of the study findings, expected in late 1990, are slated to involve environmental impact, a cost schedule and owner-management options.

Members of the committee will deal with many of the same issues that Romulus has faced as the home community for Metro. McAnally said those will be factors in determining whether the area is better served by one "enormous" airport or by a collection of smaller ones.

One of the key benefits for Romulus, she said, has been the ability to attract certain kinds of business and industries.

"You have to do a lot of work to get that started, at least we did," McAnally said. "But if (the airport) continues to grow, it could obliterate it."

Currently, SEMCOG identifies 17 airports in the seven-county area. Detroit Metro is the only airport identified as an "air carrier" airport. Willow Run Airport, located on the border of Van Buren and Ypsilanti townships, is the only airport identified as a "cargo airport."

The SEMCOG study is currently in the data-collection and review stage, the first of six stages of the study.

GLAUCOMA Questions & Answers

Your vision is one of your most valuable possessions. None of us would purposely neglect eye care. However, there is one eye disease that has no symptoms, until it is far advanced. This disease is glaucoma. Glaucoma is a condition in which the pressure inside the eye is abnormally high. Slowly, over a long period of time, this pressure gradually damages the nerves in the eye, and causes blind areas in your peripheral, or side, vision. You cannot feel this pressure, and the defects in the side vision are not noticed until they are far advanced. Once vision is lost from glaucoma, it cannot be recovered.

How can I tell if I have glaucoma? There is no way you can tell on your own. You cannot feel the pressure. You must have an examination by your eye doctor to detect glaucoma.

Does glaucoma affect only older people? No. Glaucoma can affect anyone from an infant to the elderly. It is more common in persons over 40 years old.

Is glaucoma hereditary? It tends to run in families. If there is glaucoma in your family, it is more likely that you could have glaucoma, but if it is not in your family, you can still have it.

Is there treatment for glaucoma? With modern methods, most cases of glaucoma can be controlled. This is usually done using eye drops. The laser can also be used for some cases of glaucoma.

ROMULUS NEWS DIGEST

Man robbed in car

Waiting at a stop light at the intersection of Ecorse Road and Middlebelt Sunday night, a 34-year-old Westland man was the victim of an armed robbery, according to police reports.

Apparently, a man approached the victim's car while he was stopped at the light and entered through the passenger door. The culprit reportedly pulled out a gun and demanded the victim's money.

Before the man complied, he told police, his assailant pulled his wallet out of the man's pants and fled on foot. The victim did not report any injuries in the incident.

The victim described the man as a black male, between 20 and 25 years old, with short hair and no facial hair. He wore a dark varsity jacket, but a school logo was not recognized.

Anyone with information about this case is urged to call the Romulus Police Department at 941-8400.

Gregory Lauth was to be arraigned in the 34th District Court in Romulus Tuesday morning on charges of breaking and entering in an unoccupied home.

The break-in reportedly occurred between 7 and 8:30 p.m. on the 15000 block of Isabel. A microwave oven was taken but was later recovered by the police.

9 join local anti-abortion protest rally

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

The low temperatures and cold winds did not dampen the enthusiasm of nine members of the Romulus Right to Life organization who staged a prayer march at city hall Saturday.

The demonstration continued from 8 a.m. until noon. Pastors from local churches were in attendance and spoke to the marchers during planned intervals.

"It went wonderfully," said

Sonda Stepchuk, chapter president. "We had beautiful cooperation from the police department and the mayor."

Originally, the march was planned for a strip of Wayne Road leading participants to the Northland Family Planning clinic. Between 100 and 80 participants were expected.

When Stepchuk addressed city council to request a no-fee permit for the march two weeks ago, her proposal led to more than one hour of debate. Ultimately, Stepchuk accepted a suggestion from Mayor Beverly McNally to move the march to city hall.

Police officials were on the scene to protect the demonstrators but the march was without problems, said Lt. Robert Brown of the Romulus Police Department.

"Everything went as smooth as can be," he said.

Brown added that members of opponent groups to right to life did not appear to protest the march.

Developer is approved for Romulus exhibition center

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

In one action Monday night city council agreed to support the development of an exhibition center in Romulus and designated a developer to do the work.

Proposed is a 100,000-square-foot facility north of Detroit Metropolitan Airport, adjacent to many of the nearby hotels.

Dennis Oakes, director of community development, presented the proposal to council members. City officials and members of the Romulus Hotel

Managers Association have been working together for four years, he said, exploring the possibility of a local exhibition/conference center.

Oakes said the numerous hotel rooms in the city combined with a regional hub airport make Romulus an ideal site for the facility.

"We think we're in the position to capture a very large share of a very large market," he said.

Requesting the status of designated developer for the project was Norman LoPatin, representing LoPatin and Company. That status was needed, he said, to allow the company to obtain financial support as it progresses with architectural work.

Designating a developer is basically a firm show of support by the city, Oakes said, indicating officials trust that company to complete the work. This status will be effective one year.

LoPatin pointed out a similar development project has been completed in Rosemont, Ill., a suburb of Chicago.

"It (the center) has become a boon for that area," he said. "It's very obvious your hotels here need more than the airport."

The general site area proposed for this development is already part of a Tax Increment Finance Authority, the Wick Road Project. City officials recently issued an $8 million bond for this site near the airport to fund infrastructure improvements such as roadwork. In a TIFA area, city officials "capture" revenue generated by the development their work encouraged and use it to repay their investment.

Originally, the Wick project was approved to facilitate the Metro World Centre, a large, multi-use development proposed for the area. An exhibition center in the TIFA area would become an additional source of revenue.

LoPatin pointed out construction on the center would not begin until improvements in the TIFA area are complete.

The proposal received support from all council members except Jimmie Raspberry. He claimed he supports the concept of the development but does not want to discourage other developers from it.

Treasured plaque provides key to history

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

When Richard Teasdale displays the plaque his father gave him years ago, he holds a piece of history.

The plaque was made for members of the Michigan Brewers Association in 1933, the year the constitutional prohibition on selling alcohol ended in this country.

Now, the Romulus resident proudly displays the plaque on the wall in his home. His father, John, told him years ago that he had been one of four charter members.

Teasdale explained that his father helped form a partnership to create the Wolverine Brewery in Pontiac Michigan. Five or six years after the partnership dissolved, John Teasdale presented his teenage son with the plaque.

For Richard Teasdale, the plaque is a key to memories of his father's business and the days of Prohibition.

During Prohibition, he recalled, the Teasdale family lived in Bloomfield Hills, near Pontiac. For lack of a better use, John Teasdale used hops as fertilizer for his shrubs.

Hops is a key ingredient for making beer, an illegal substance in those days.

After smelling the hops day after day, the local postal carrier became suspicious, Teasdale said.

"He thought Dad was running a blind pig...The police raided our house at 12 in the morning."

Police officials found the Teasdales were not operating a blind pig (an illegal source of alcohol) from their home, to the surprise of the postman.

During his years with the brewery, John Teasdale was recognized in more positive light. One night, an employee somehow caught his clothing on fire while welding in a vat. Teasdale threw his overcoat on the man, extinguishing the flames.

"He saved a man's life," Richard said.

Proud of his father and the plaque he left his son, Richard Teasdale now wonders about the other members and where their plaques are now.

"There's got to be some plaques around in the state," he said.

Whether or not he learns of other plaques, Teasdale said he will never part with his.

Man faces conviction in robbery

A 34-year-old former Detroit resident was convicted of armed robbery and use of a firearm in the commission of a felony last week, more than a year after the crime was reported.

Earl Levi Dixon, Jr. awaits a Nov. 1 sentencing in Wayne County jail.

The charges stem from an incident in April, 1988 when a security guard at a business in the 36000 block of Northline was approached by an armed black male. The man handcuffed the guard to an electrical conduit and fled in a 1987 Ford pick up truck used by company guards.

Later that month, the truck was found in Largo, Florida. Police investigation led police to suspect Dixon, and an arrest warrant was issued for him in June, 1988.

Dixon was arrested by Daytona Beach police officials in January, 1989 and was charged with armed robbery and felony firearm.

Dracula comes to Romulus

A student production of Dracula is planned for Nov. 9, 10, 11, 17 and 18 at Romulus Senior High School.

Cast members include Shawn Frazier as Dracula, Kristen Baker as Lucy, Rob Snell as Harker, Jackie Shay as the maid, Bill McEwen as Dr. Van Helsing, Brian Mills as Renfield and Richard Snell as the attendant.

For ticket information, contact Susan Hiser at the high school, 941-2170.

Halloween party is planned

Local members of Michigan Elite Teens are planning a new twist to their annual Thanksgiving Food Drive—a Halloween party.

The event is planned for Oct. 29 and is for those involved in the group and their friends. For admission, three non-perishable canned goods are required. All donations will be presented to the Gleaners, a portion of the Food Banks of Michigan.

Last year, Michigan Elite Teens collected approximately 100 cases of canned good and other non-perishable food items. Michigan Elite Teens is a member of the national Coalition for American Youth Opportunities and is active in a "Say No to Drugs" campaign.

Host families are sought

The American Intercultural Student Exchange is searching for host families for the 1990/91 year.

Students in this program are from Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Finland, Holland, Austria, Switzerland, West Germany, Spain, Portugal, France, Italy, Brazil, Ecuador, New Zealand, Australia, Thailand and Japan.

The students, ages 15 through 17, will arrive in the United States in August 1990, attend a local high school, and return to their home countries in June 1991. All fluent in English, the participants have been screened by their school representatives in their home countries and have spending money and medical insurance.

For more information, call 1-800-SIBLING.

Funds target at-risk tots

The Eastern Michigan University Children's Center is accepting scholarship applications for a preschool program for at-risk 4-year-olds.

Funded by a state grant, the scholarship pays for five half-days of play-based learning programs in the center.

Terry McVicar, program coordinator, said at-risk children include those from single-parent families, families where English is a second language, children with developmental delays and those with physical or physiological-like disabilities.

The program emphasizes strong parental participation and takes a hands-on approach.

Parents with children who will still be 4 years old Dec. 1, 1989, and who may be qualified for the program, are encouraged to visit the children's center administrative offices in the basement of the EMU Snow Health Center to apply for scholarships.

For more information, call 487-1126.

Deadline nears for scholarships

The Educational Communications Scholarship Foundation is offering academic scholarships up to $1,000 per student, but the deadline for application is Dec. 1, 1989.

To receive an application, students should send a note including their names, address, city, state, zip code, approximate grade-point average and year of graduation.

Pitching in Legislators look to businesses to promote state recycling efforts

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

State lawmakers are looking to businesses now to increase recycling efforts in Michigan.

As members of the House Solid Waste Study Committee wrap up a series of hearings on proposals to increase recycling, they are beginning to meet with business representatives on this issue.

State Rep. James Kosteva (D-Canton Township) believes some businesses are already putting effort into recycling.

One method, exchanging waste, reduces the waste flow. Kosteva explained that byproducts from one company, such as a chemical plant, may be needed by others.

"For them it's a waste, but it might be a product someone else can use," he said.

In addition, he said, some businesses are saving and reusing common items such as corrugated cardboard.

However, more effort in this direction is needed, Kosteva said.

"There's still too much waste going to landfills," he said.

Lawmakers are considering creation of a single business tax credit to encourage people to purchase recycled goods.

In addition, state officials are forming consortiums with businesses to tackle the issues together. One such consortium was formed with plastic producers such as Dow Chemical

For them it is waste, but it might be a product someone else can use.

— James Kosteva
state representative and Plastipak Packaging, Inc. (located in Westland and Plymouth Township).

"We're asking them for recommendations," Kosteva said.

The lawmaker added that increasing recycling is likely to be a slow, deliberate process.

"I think we're going to be working on this as a society and a state for the next five or 10 years," Kosteva said.

Most people, at home and in the workplace, have formed the habit of cramming trash into a garbage bag and tossing it away, he continued. The widespread use of recycling means a change in lifestyle.

"To make recycling work it has to be profitable. We're not simply going to do it because we think it's the right thing to do."

As Kosteva said, however, some area businesses have taken steps toward the practice of recycling.

An example is Plastipak Packaging, Inc. A national container company, Plastipak makes bottles for detergents and cleaning solutions, soda pop bottles, water jugs, dairy containers and other items.

Most of the products made by the company contain High Density Polyethylene and Terephthalate. Those chemicals are very common in landfills, according to Jim Luce, manufacturing service representative for the Plymouth Township plant.

Company representatives are researching methods to reuse these chemicals.

At this point, Luce said, the company uses several types of used detergent bottles to make new containers — the first plastic containers in the country made with recycled household materials. "Eventually, that material will come from Michigan," Luce said.

Plastic, he added, is a logical choice for recycling. The chemical makeup of the product allows it to be reformed.

Representatives from another area company, Nelson Paper Recycling, Inc., look at recycling from another perspective. Ray Nelson Jr. is president of the local company. While he is pleased to see companies recycling items such as computer paper and corrugated cardboard, Nelson would like to see them buy the goods the second time around.

Recycled paper today is very similar to new products, he said, and it does not cost more. But Nelson sees a very limited market for recycled paper.

"There's a lot of talk and no do," he said.

Car dealer introduces new line

By TERRY JACOBY
ANP Staff Writer

A new group of cars and trucks have already appeared on the car lot of John Rogin Buick, but they aren't General Motors vehicles. In an effort to "give people a choice," Rogin has added an Isuzu car and truck business to his dealership, located on the corner of Michigan Avenue and Wayne Road, in Wayne.

"We are glad to be the first in Wayne with an import franchise," said John Rogin, who is quick to point out that General Motors owns 42 percent of Isuzu-American stock and that the vehicles are going to be built in the United States.

All of the Isuzu trucks and cars will be built at their new plant in Lafayette, Ind., Rogin said.

"We saw the need for Isuzu," Rogin said. "Import cars are gaining ground and will continue to gain ground. We want to give people a choice."

The Isuzu line includes the I-Mark, Impulse and the new 1990 Stylus.

"These are well-built sports cars that are inexpensive for the quality," Rogin said. "They are very quick cars that are available with turbo engines."

The Isuzu truck line includes the Space Cab, the Amego and the Trooper truck.

Proposal B: Funding package may confuse voters

This is the second article in a series outlining the two school finance-reform ballot proposals - A and B - that will be before voters Nov. 7.

Of the two school finance reform proposals that will appear on the Tuesday, Nov. 7 ballot, Proposal B appears more complex.

Proposal A will provide a tax increase. Voters will decide whether to increase the state sales tax from 4 cents to 4 1/2 cents and constitutionally dedicate the estimated $400 million the increase would generate during the 1990-91 school year to schools.

Proposal B provides for a property relief amendment tied to a 2-cent sales tax increase. That reduction in the property tax comes about through a reduction in the school operating tax. Lawmakers say that if Proposal B is approved by the voters it would provide between $240 and $260 million new dollars for education for the coming school year.

To make Proposal B appealing to the voters, the lawmakers have offered an estimated $1.5 billion in gross property relief.

The basic tenets of Proposal B would be the establishment of a state property tax of 9 mills on nonbusiness property and 14 mills on business property for the purpose of school funding. The maximum operating tax school districts all allowed to levy under the present provisions of the state constitution is 50 mills.

Most of the area lawmakers, including state senator William Faust, state representatives Lynn Owen (Sumpter), William Keith (Garden City), James Kosteva (Canton), and Justine Barnes (Westland) support Proposal B because of its property-tax reducing effects, they have stated over the past months.

Other basic provisions of Proposal B include:

- Provide for a "local foundation millage" of at least 8 mills for most local schools. A mill represents $1 of property tax for each $1,000 of state equalized property value.
- Provide local school districts with the option of levying 4 additional mills, if approved by voters. The 4 mills would be limited to two years.
- Provide that the new constitutional funding requirements for schools can be changed by a law requiring a 2/3 vote of each house of the legislature.
- Proposal B would require the state Board of Education to submit a report every five years to the legislature with recommendations for improving school performance.

- Establish a "state revenue per pupil guarantee" for all school districts.

There are other key provisions - some controversial - such as the abolishment of the Headlee Amendment in the constitution and the authorization, without voter approval, to permit the state to borrow up to 25 percent of School Account for Education Fund (SAFE) to meet cash-flow demands for local school systems.

School districts that do not adopt core curriculum and improvement plans would be slapped with statutory penalties by the legislature which could deny all non-guaranteed state funds to those schools.

Proposal B has been endorsed by the Michigan Association of School Boards, according to Justin King, executive director of MASH.

The State Chamber of Commerce, however, has criticized the ballot language of both proposals.

In a press release last month, the chamber noted, "The wording of Proposal B is so inaccurate and misleading because it fails to clearly describe major changes to the current constitution. For example, Proposal B would substantially reduce the scope of voter approved Tax Limitation (Headlee) Amendment. Proposal B would reduce control of public schools by eliminating millage elections."

The Headlee Tax Limitation Act, incorporated in the state constitution by the voters in a special election in 1978, is designed to hold tax increases at or below the rate of inflation.

School officials have charged the legislature to design a more equitable way to finance schools due to the wide disparity of funds available to school districts.

If both Proposal A and Proposal B are approved by the voters, the proposal with the greater number of 'yes' votes would take effect.

The sales tax increase would become effective Jan. 1, 1990.

Education considered as a right

By DANIEL CALABRESE
ANP Staff Writer

An effort to make education a "guaranteed" right for all Americans has received skeptical reviews locally.

Members of the Michigan House of Representatives recently approved a measure calling on Congress to make education a federally guaranteed right, and to amend the U.S. Constitution to express that right.

Supporters of the measure have said it would help correct funding inequities between school districts, much as the Texas Supreme Court ruled recently that education financing in that state must be changed to assure a more balanced funding distribution between districts.

But two local superintendents said they doubt much practical good will come from the measure.

Elvin Peets, superintendent of Van Buren Public Schools, said the federal government might turn such an effort around.

"Would that somehow, in the eyes of federal officials, dictate some federal uniformity, or federal consistency?" Peets said.

Peets said the effort could make it easier to deal with funding inequities, but may not be strong enough to really change the situation.

"If it were a right granted by the Constitution, it would become a protected constitutional right, if you will," Peets said.

Peets cited recent court opinions in which it was determined that education is not a guaranteed right because it is not mentioned in the Constitution.

Dennis O'Neill, superintendent of Wayne-Westland Community Schools, also expressed doubts about the practical potential of the idea.

"We've got so many realistic problems that need to be addressed that I don't know," O'Neill said. "If it's another one of those political footballs, I think we should turn our attention to other things."

According to O'Neill, the federal government will be less capable of handling school finance than state governments. He said the Michigan House, which passed the measure, should be working toward reforming the system in Michigan.

Having the two (school finance) issues on the ballot right now is an indication of the House being part of the problem," O'Neill said.

He indicated that the effort of the House may be more of a posturing action than a true reform effort.

"This is simply a way of shifting the blame to the federal level," O'Neill said. "I don't see where that's going to solve the problem."

Census takers will be counting heads

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

During the next few months, area residents will notice an increase of people walking through neighborhoods, gathering information. This first step to completing the 1990 Census will be followed by the arrival of questionnaires in the mail, a main means of obtaining information.

Officials from the United States Census Bureau point out the Constitution requires a census be taken once every 10 years for congressional apportionment.

Questions fall into two major groups, population and housing. Most questionnaires contain 19 questions and require approximately 15 minutes to complete. One in five people will receive a more detailed form including questions about members of the household and the home itself. This "long form" takes approximately 45 minutes to complete, according to officials.

Regardless of the form completed, all information is confidential, census officials emphasize. Confidentiality is required by federal law.

More importantly, the information can be used to help people, often at the community level, officials said.

In one community, for example, a study of census data showed a high number of working women with children. With this information, community leaders sought and won approval for a day-care center.

The Big Brothers of America organization is using 1980 census information on the characteristics of young men - income, education, occupation - to estimate the number of potential volunteers in selected communities.

Census material has also been used to obtain a community center and to arrange a care program for children and working mothers.

In addition, census information is often used by local governments. Community representation in the U.S. House of Representatives, state legislatures, county and municipal governments is determined using census data.

Census numbers are used to determine federal and state government assistance for housing, health, human services and other programs.

Census information has also been used by transportation planners to select bus routes and highways that need widening.

When people are not counted, census officials said, government decisions are based on misinformation. Undercounting can curtail projects and cause lower funding for community programs and services.

Census officials said they are still in the early stages of the count, preparing for April 1, 1990, Census Day.

HELP YOUR HEART WITH EXERCISE

By Clyde Wu, M.D.

Exercise may do more than just improve your appearance. It may help you live a happier life. Physical fitness does not guarantee a healthy heart, but studies show that people who exercise regularly have less heart attacks.

WHAT EXERCISE DOES TO YOU

When you exercise you are training your body to work more efficiently. Many of your body's systems benefit from exercise. Your heart, lungs, muscles, and nervous system learn to work at a greater intensity without tiring.

WHAT EXERCISE DOES FOR YOU

There are many advantages to exercise. It helps you stay slimmer by burning calories. It helps prevent bone loss so your bones do not become more fragile as you grow older. It has many psychological benefits, too. It is a healthy way of handling stress.

modifying depression, and relieving anxiety. It may even reduce your blood cholesterol level.

AVOID HEART DISEASE

Exercise benefits your whole body but is of special value to your heart. To help prevent heart disease, you should exercise every other day. Slowly increase the duration and intensity of the exercise.

Your goal should be to exercise vigorously for at least 20 minutes at a time.

Brisk walking, jogging, bicycling, cross-country skiing, aerobics, and swimming are just a few of the exercises that are good for your heart.

Not everyone can handle the same level of exercise. Before beginning a strenuous exercise program you should consult your physician.

Opinion

Send school reform back to 'square 1'

Just say no.

That's the advice we offer voters entering the polls Nov. 7 to determine the fate of both school finance proposals on the ballot. We strongly suggest a resounding rejection of both plans. Our fear is that this will be the end of them.

Neither of the plans offers an ideal or even adequate solution to school finance reform. Both are compromises arrived at after long and arduous debate among state legislators. That is, in our best euphemistic manner, a polite way of saying these are deals made by politicians, for politicians, and clearly may not serve the needs of the most important people to be considered when these all-important votes are cast.

Each voter will arrive at a decision based on personal experience, opinion and circumstance...but we urge all to remember that those most affected by this vote are the very hope of our future in this state and this country...our children.

If past performance is truly an indicator of future behavior, then the approval of either Proposal A or B will not ensure that our schools are better or more equitably financed. Voters have been assured previously that approval of the state lottery would result in better education through more funding for our schools. It is obvious, especially to our local education administrators, that this didn't happen.

Strong supporters of the individual proposals offer assurances that safeguards have been built into the legislation ensuring that schools will receive the funding necessary to better educate our children. After reading the proposals and the literature which accompanies the actual specifications, that doesn't seem certain.

Proposal A will introduce a half-cent tax increase on the existing 4 cent sales tax with no property-tax relief. According to proponents of Proposal A, implementation of this new tax rate would generate about $421 million in new money to be used for school finance.

Proposal B would increase the present sales tax to 6 cents, while offering a property tax reduction of approximately 38 percent. Supporters claim this measure would generate approximately $274 million to be used for schools.

Rhetoric on both sides is persuasive and convincing. Name a taxpayer who wouldn't be in favor of a 38 percent reduction in property taxes. But a 6 cent sales tax does seem prohibitive. A mild, half-cent sales tax increase seems straightforward enough and is appealing to many voters. The question we have, however, is with the guarantee that the funds generated will go to our schools and toward the education of our children.

It appears, at least to us, that there are loopholes through which clever financial machinations could divert and transfer funds, leaving our schools in the same deplorable condition in which they exist. Do not misunderstand our intent. We support school finance reform. We agree that measures must be taken to improve school financing and provide more equity for all our children. We just don't feel that either Proposal A or B will accomplish that end without a guarantee that the funds will only go to the schools.

And further, we would urge all our voters to demand that our legislators find a proposal which provides the solution so necessary to our schools and to our children.

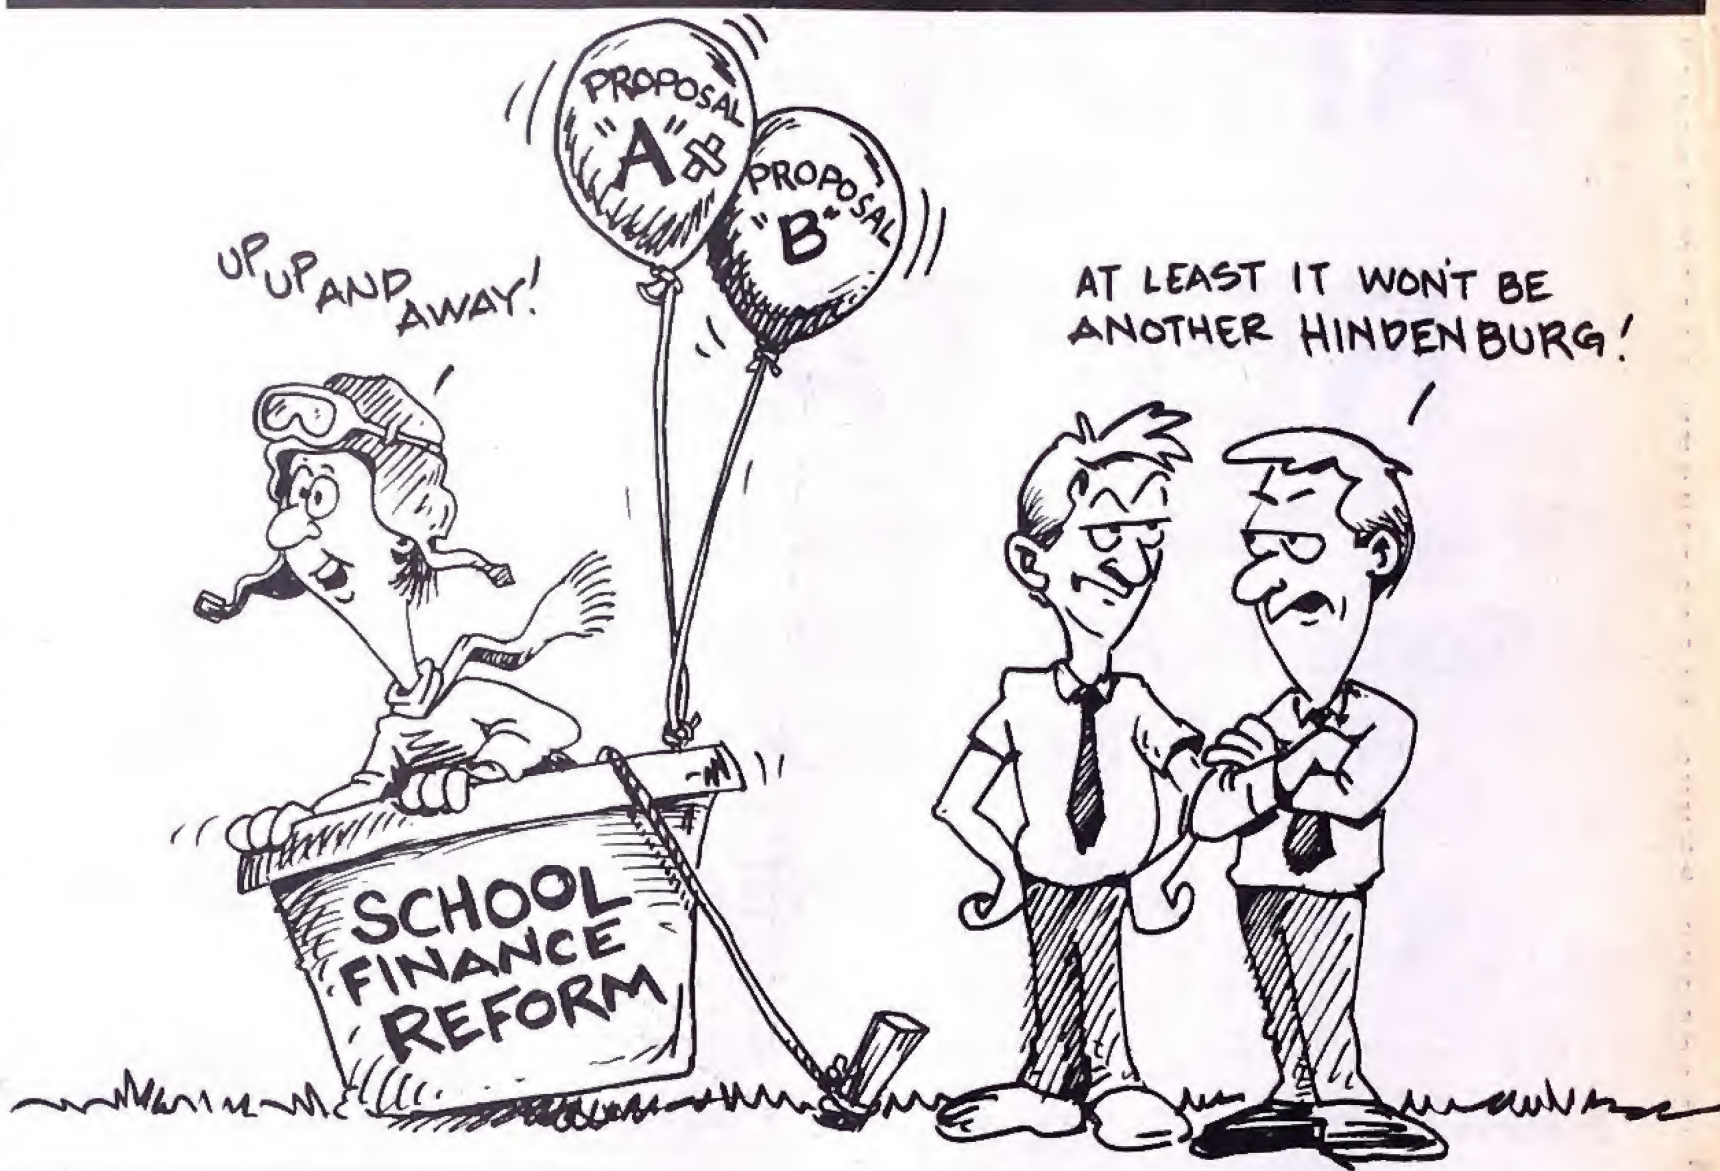

Our greatest fear is that should both these proposals be rejected by voters, as we hope they will be, there will be no further effort to find the much-needed solution to our funding problems in the schools. Our legislators, charged with representing our best interests, should be firmly encouraged to find this solution and offer voters a proposal which ensures, with no chance of any division of funds, that our children are each offered an education which will guarantee the future of our state and our country.

The end simply does not justify illegal means

City officials in Inkster had scheduled a strategy meeting for Monday evening this week to discuss means to curtail the drug problems prevalent in the city. On Friday, without notice, the meeting was rescheduled for Wednesday, making any publicity regarding the meeting nearly impossible.

Was this an effort to skirt the open meetings act? Or simply a matter of scheduling? We wonder. While the need for confidentiality is obvious in planning a citywide law enforcement effort to curtail drug trafficking is blatant, skirting the law in an effort to enforce it seems ludicrous.

If a meeting is public, it is public. If it is a private matter, and confidentiality is required, then it should be kept private and out of the realm of the open meetings act. Skirting or attempting to bend the law is never acceptable under any circumstances.

'Stanlie': Symbol of pride, thanks, goodbye

Her eyes could melt a heart of stone. Her whimsical movements guarantee smiles from even the most pessimistic. And her need for constant care and attention makes her caretakers feel invincible.

She is the newest addition to my daily duties. She is also the perfect analogy to describe my feelings, as I compose what will be my last story in the pages of the Associated Newspapers.

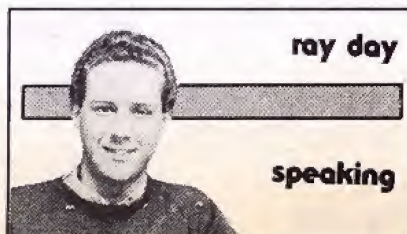

Her name is Stanlie. (Please, don't ponder the masculine name for a feminine entity. It's a story too complex to explain here.)

Stanlie is the tiny 8-week-old puppy who has captured my heart. She is also the reason my early-rising and ever-so-observant neighbors have spotted me at 3 a.m. each day.

Yes, there I stand - with unlaced tennis shoes, wool overcoat and whatever else one can quickly put on in the dark - patiently waiting for this pint-sized cocker spaniel puppy to learn that the back yard is for much more than eating leaves and now-frozen grass clippings.

Perhaps, my pride would have been better preserved had these all-knowing neighbors not witnessed the excitement I displayed and the somewhat exaggerated praises and affection I offered my new pet when - after 20 minutes of pulling on my shoelaces and hanging from the tails of my overcoat - she relented and made the trip outdoors worthwhile.

Now, all I have to do is convince little Stanlie that this type of behavior should be a habit.

But not at 3 a.m.

As I watch this young creature enter my life, I realize that little Stanlie has marked a new beginning. After all, she is like a child to me, a child I can help mold, shape and build... and watch as it grows and improves.

This newspaper has also been like a child to me. Five years ago, this new child marked a new beginning in my career. Five years ago, I was given the opportunity to help mold, shape and build this newspaper... and watch as it grew and improved.

Today, I am telling this child "goodbye."

No, it isn't easy. There are few words which adequately convey my feelings, as I embark upon a new direction in my career. There are few words which properly describe my gratitude for all of those around me.

My career at the Associated Newspapers began as a part-time reporter. My zest to become more involved and more educated in the tricks and trades of the business soon landed me the title of "staff writer."

Today, my unused business-card collection dubs me as "news editor," "managing editor" and - most recently - "general manager/executive editor."

Perhaps, I should also have a card which labels me as a "proud participant in the quest for excellence."

Those who have been watching have witnessed many changes in their local newspaper during the last few years. Those who have been watching know that the group of people producing the six Associated Newspapers is dedicated to quality, community service and overall newspaper excellence, excellence which has been lauded and praised by our peers, our colleagues and our readers.

To say that I am proud of what we have produced here does not fully illustrate the true degree of my happiness. Perhaps, my pride for these newspapers can only be compared to the pride a parent has for his or her child.

As I leave my post here and travel to the challenges waiting at my new job - managing editor of Ford World, the corporate newspaper of the Ford Motor Co. - I leave behind many debts to be repaid. To list here all of those whom I should thank would be a never-ending task. Surely, I could not begin to pay tribute to all of those who have, in some way, contributed to the success story of this newspaper and of this ever-grateful writer.

But among those who deserve a brief mention and an abbreviated dose of my sincere gratitude are the following: my ever-supportive, caring, kind, loving and wonderful wife/co-parent of little Stanlie, Debbie; my very best teacher, friend, clone and boss, Sue Willett; my publisher and provider of so many learning opportunities, Dave Willett; my hard-working, supportive staff members (who had better never forget all of my pet peeves); my loyal co-workers and colleagues; my "confidential" sources for news and views; my ever-supportive and article-clipping parents; the many city officials, school leaders and area residents with whom I had the pleasure to work (yes, there are many of you, but I have fond memories of each of you); and all those who have supported our goal of making the six Associated Newspapers among the best weekly papers in this state.

And, of course, my gratitude is extended to little Stanlie - my ever-playful puppy - who provided just the right analogy to use in this final column.

If Stanlie can grow and improve as a "child" in a fashion similar to the way these newspapers have, I know this is one dog everyone will be talking about.

More importantly, if Stanlie truly can be compared to the success of these newspapers, my neighbors will soon have to find another source of amusement and ridicule at 3 a.m. each day...

Goodbye, my child. Thank you, my friends. My pride for you will never subside.

I believe the best way is to allow educators to vote on how the money should be spent on education. They have been trained in that field whereas others haven't.

David Artley

I think community involvement enhances the educational process. And the more involvement, the better off everybody is.

There should be more parent-staff-school board involvement and cooperation. It's really hard to get the parent involvement with the school projects.

Roger Stanley

I actually think the schools need more money to do the things that should be done. I'm willing to pay for it with my taxes.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Residency issue must be addressed

At the Wayne City Council meeting Oct. 17, an issue was raised by resident James Netter. The issue itself needs to be addressed, but it also brings about another more serious one.

Netter asked why city administrative officers are permitted to reside outside of the city, when the city charter clearly states that they must be registered electors of the city. Why are they permitted to and who is it that gives this permission, which is in violation of the city charter?

It is strange that some have been told they must live in the city, when others are allowed to reside where they choose. One administrative officer lives outside of Wayne County.

It seems the crucial issue lies in the fact that our city charter has been ignored. Did not our council, together with the administrative officers, take an oath of office to uphold the charter? It would appear that someone is not doing his job. This has to make one wonder. If this section of the charter is being ignored, what other sections are, as well?

It looks as if it is time our councilmembers take a look at themselves to see just what they have become. Has responsibility taken a back seat to power and self-importance?

Section 6.8 of the city charter cannot be more explicit. Were any councilmembers aware of the double standard on residency for department heads? Didn't anyone on the city ever wonder why - after years of department heads living in Wayne - we now have some living outside of the city?

Our watchdogs need a watchdog. Many of us applaud this Wayne resident for raising a question that needed public asking.

The throngs are awaiting the public answer. Well, Mr. Mayor and councilmembers?

Name withheld upon request
Wayne

Concerts were local success

On behalf of the Westland Cultural Society, I would like to thank those people who helped make our 1989 concerts-in-the-park season possible.

Our goal was to offer 10 free outdoor concerts to the residents of Westland and the surrounding communities. We were only able to do that with very generous assistance from the following sponsors: J.C. Penney, Westland Jaycees, Westland Rotary, Westland Host Lions, Westland Festival Committee, Central City Park Association, Vision Institute of Michigan and Crowley's, Inc.

Our concerts are produced in cooperation with the Westland Parks and Recreation Department. We are grateful to parks and recreation Director George Gilles and his staff for their very able assistance and wholehearted participation.

The bands which performed in our neighborhood parks are composed of extremely talented professional musicians. We were able to sit back and enjoy the sound of Big Bands, country and western, light rock, Blue Grass and European music. Our thanks go to the American Federation of Musicians, Local 5, which provided matching funds for many of our concerts.

We would also like to thank those people who brought lawn chairs and blankets to the parks and cheered on the musicians. What we lacked in numbers was made up in enthusiasm.

Many of them made a point to tell us that they could not wait for the concerts next year.

Thus, we invite everyone to watch for our concert schedule next spring. Our 1990 season (eight concerts) will begin in May and continue until early September.

Jo Johnson

Mobile-home tax is an injustice

It was with some semblance of interest and hope that we attended the Sept. 24 meeting of the mobile-homeowners' association. State Rep. James Kosteva (D-Canton Township) was to be there to answer questions and to give advice.

Our worries were primarily about the steady rent increase each year. Was a 5-percent raise permitted. The mobile-home park owner is adding 10 percent! We did not even hear this mentioned.

The $30 monthly tax assessment was brought up. The only information on this preposterous tax was that there were rumblings in Lansing. Kosteva felt it was his duty to warn us senior citizens that this proposed tax was held back this year by public outcry but sure to come next year.

This property tax levied on landowners until now was to be placed fully upon the renters of property. Not only the mobile-home park owner.

His rent raise of $25 does not include this tax. If this is the case, apartment landlords may do the same, forcing the property tax upon the renters.

Are you mobile-home owners and apartment renters aware of this outrageous plan being formed by our Lansing officials? No explanation of this change of status of renters. Lansing has just said so. This does not sound acceptable to us.

The best and only solution will be to vote a change in legislators who have no empathy or fairness at the next election.

Scott and Eloise Cameron
Canton Township

Pro-choice fails to heed 'rights'

How many people are familiar with the term "tunnel vision"?

For those who are not, tunnel vision occurs when someone focuses on only a particular aspect of a given situation, making it quite impossible to make a sound judgment.

I have found this to be the case when every pro-choice argument has been presented by the news media. It appears that "a woman has a right to do what she wants with her body" is the main concern regarding the abortion issue.

But let us be realistic, please. Consider that the choice to have an abortion affects two people, not one. With the loose definition of "woman" running rampant in society, a female baby could, in fact, be considered a "woman."

What about this little "woman's" rights? Aren't they being abused through abortion? Most definitely.

Thus, the "woman's rights" theory holds very little water on this point.

A male child apparently has the same rights as the "woman" child - none.

Open your eyes, women of America. It is not your rights we are against. It is your child's rights that we are for.

Once you all develop a little peripheral vision, I am sure you will be able to see this. Tunnel vision can be hazardous to your baby's health and to yours.

This is a life-and-death decision I am speaking of, and it concerns much more than one party. Someone doesn't seem to be getting any say in the matter.

Aren't the pro-choice people overlooking someone else's rights?

Sonda Stepchuk
President
Romulus Right to Life

Community supports restoration project

On behalf of the Canton Historic District Commission, I wish to thank the numerous individuals and organizations who contributed to the restoration of the historic Cherry Hill School, in Canton Township.

Their cooperation and support made this restoration project possible. Among these people were Michigan lawmakers, Canton Township Board of Trustees, Canton Township staff, private individuals who contributed, corporations that contributed, commission members (past and present) and media organizations.

Commission members invite the citizens of Michigan to enjoy this public building for private, business and organizational functions. Reservations and additional information may be obtained through the Canton Township clerk's office. Call 397-5367.

Thanks again for your support.

Swimmers will miss their coach

"Coach McPartlin had a farm, eeeiii eeeiii oohhh!"

And on that farm he had some zebras, eeeiii eeeiii oohhh!"

James McPartlin has chosen to give up his coaching position after seventeen years of service to the community.

Education has never been a priority in America's eye...it's the money - school budgets, declining enrollment, cut-backs, layoff reassignments. LOOK AT US! "Education is a business..." All having to do with numbers and money. When is it going to end? When is education going to be made a way of life, not a profit? Meanwhile, we, the students lose! Where education is supposed to expand our minds, motivate us to think - all we learn here is to take what we can get, cut our losses. I hate to tell you this folks, but this is wrong. Where are our hearts? Surely they can't live in our pocketbooks forever. Don't you have a conscience.

A.J. worked with humans for seventeen years as a coach, passing on the ways of a successful, satisfying life. Now he is giving in to the weight of society's pressure, he has to make a cut-back for the sake of humans, this time his family. And he has to lose his heart for it.

"With a Zebra Zebra here, and a Zebra Zebra there. Here a Zebra, there a Zebra, everywhere a Zebra Zebra..."

So, who do we feel sorry for?

The one man who is denied his lifetime occupation by exhaustion (Look! He teaches at four schools a day!) and dedication to humans, his family? (Shouldn't this be rewarded, not punished?)

The students/swimmers who have looked forward to being under his guidance as a coach and a teacher?

The community for having lost an adult who helped a generation of people achieve maturity with individual satisfaction?

You can say that it is a matter of contract, a matter of money... But I tend to look at my future and the futures of my classmates with my heart... And contract or no contract, budget or no budget, teacher or no teacher, coach or no coach, this is not the best for him, my class/teammates, or me. And I am a student, I am a swimmer, and I count.

"Coach McPartlin had a farm, eeeiii eeeiii sniffle...boo...hoo."

Kathy Farrell
Wayne Memorial student

Give thanks for these 3 fine treats

Just desserts

sue willert

There is probably no excuse for this, other than sheer perversity. But, in four weeks, friends, it will be Thanksgiving Day.

Four weeks. And we all know what follows Thanksgiving in about an hour and one-half, don't we?

You bet we do. But this is the time to begin considering what will be served at the official opening of the holiday season. That seems to be what Thanksgiving has become—sort of the grand-opening feast before the gift shopping, decorating, wrapping, baking and partying of Christmas.

Personally, my favorite holiday of the entire year has always been Halloween. When I see the Christmas decorations and wrapping paper in the shops prior to this event, my blood boils. That, however, is a different story, and you wouldn't believe it anyway.

Returning to the subject at hand, which is what we can serve in addition to the traditional pumpkin pie at the Thanksgiving table? Plain or fancy? Fruit-filled or custard? Elaborate or down-to-earth?

If it were my choice (and if I had the energy), it would be "all of the above."

Dessert is the best part of the meal. Well, maybe next to the leftovers. It's very close between the two. Research (mine) indicates that leftover turkey sandwiches could definitely become addictive.

But there should be a choice of desserts with which to stuff oneself, similar to the main course, I might note. I am a firm believer in at least three desserts at any really special meal. Otherwise, how can you be sure it is really special?

Here is one which is well worth the extra effort. Add it to the mandatory pumpkin pie, and everyone will know just how much they really do have to be thankful for.

Have you sent in your recipes for the Associated Newspapers cooking contest yet? Better rattle those cookbook pages and send them in. First prize is a weekend for two in Chicago, where both the food and the shopping are terrific. The second-place winner will receive a food processor. The third-place winner will receive dinner for two at Wayne Charlie's.

No professionals, and all entrants must be residents of our circulation area. Get busy now. Send your entry to: Cookbook Recipe Contest, Associated Newspapers, P.O. Box 578, Wayne, Mich. 48184.

Chocolate terrine

3 cups heavy cream
1/2 cup butter
20 ounces semisweet chocolate, melted
4 extra large egg yolks
1 cup almonds, chopped

Heat cream to a simmer. Add butter which has been cut into small pieces and melt. Add melted chocolate and stir until smooth. Stir in egg yolks, one at a time. Add chopped almonds. Pour into a greased 1 1/2-quart mold or springform pan. If using springform pan, be certain to tape seams. Place in a large, shallow pan of hot water and bake at 350 degrees for 1 1/2 hours. Cool. Chill. When ready to serve, cut into squares. Spoon 4 tablespoons creme anglaise (recipe below) onto individual dessert plates. Place chocolate squares in sauce and top with spoonful of raspberry puree. Serves 12.

Meals call for creativity

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

In his business, Jeff James maintains, appearance is everything.

A Wayne resident, James is a chef at the Novi Hilton hotel. The hours of effort put into flavor and consistency in food preparation are practically wasted, he said, if a dish is unappealing to the eye. By giving food a pleasant appearance, with color or garnishes, the chef is luring a customer to try it.

"We eat with our eyes," James said.

This philosophy was repeated throughout James' education, usually by French chefs with short tempers.

"They beat it in your head," he said. "They constantly pushed you to do it nicer."

James studied his craft at the Culinary Institute of America, in New York. Three weeks of his education were devoted strictly to garnishes. His teachers pointed out that each type of food warrants individual attention to appearance.

After graduating in 1985, James worked as a student teacher for an Italian chef and then completed an internship at Lake Tahoe.

He has spent nearly two years working at the Novi Hilton. As garde manger of a small team, James is responsible for all cold platters, ice carvings and food presentation.

His favorite foods to work with, however, are seafood and pasta.

"If I had my dream restaurant that was guaranteed to make $1 million, I'd just make seafood. There's so much you can do with it."

When James tackles a new recipe, he likes to put a little of himself into it—in the appearance and the flavor. He makes small changes.

"I give it my name, my touch."

Although James has spent years sharpening his talents, he suggested many simple ways to add appeal to food.

"Instead of serving plain broccoli, try miniature vegetables," he said.

Another way to add appeal to vegetables is to cut them into shapes. One of the easier vegetables to work with is the potato.

Even simple touches, such as adding a sprig of dill, can create a pleasing effect.

Additional suggestions include a splash of sauce (do not overdo) or fanning out slices of meat.

"You're altering appearance without altering flavor," James explained.

When James selected the recipes below, he opted for those out of the ordinary, dishes that call for creativity. Feel free to add your own touches.

Grilled chicken breast California

8 4-ounce chicken breasts
1 pint raspberries (1/2 pint frozen)
6 ounces heavy cream
4 ounces white wine (any Paul Mason white)
1 ounce finely chopped shallots
1 pound butter

Grill chicken breast until cooked thoroughly.

For sauce: Sauté shallots in 1 teaspoon butter. Add white wine. Allow mixture to reduce. When it almost seems dry, add heavy cream. Again, allow mixture to reduce. When cream is reduced by 3/4, remove from heat. Add raspberries. Stir in butter (cubed) slowly. Add salt and pepper to taste. Serves four.

Saute red snapper Floridian

1 8-ounce red snapper fillet
Flour to dredge
2 ounces corn oil to saute
3 ounces whole sweet butter
2 ounces orange juice
1 tablespoon roughly chopped pecans
1/4 carrot, julienne
1 leek, julienne
Salt to taste
Pepper to taste

Dredge red snapper in flour. Sauté in corn oil until golden brown. Remove fish; keep it warm. Pour off oil. Add whole butter to hot pan. When butter is foamy add leeks, carrots, pecans and orange juice. Stir gently until well mixed. Pour mixture over fish. Add salt and pepper to taste.

Venison loin marchin de vin

12 3-ounce venison loin medallions
6 ounces clarified butter
3 ounces finely chopped shallots
6 ounces hearty burgundy
4 ounces whole butter
More mushrooms

Sauté venison until medium done. Remove from pan. Add 2 ounces whole unsalted butter and chopped shallots. Sauté until translucent. Add Burgundy and allow mixture to reduce 1/2. Add pan drippings from venison. Add mushrooms and 1 tablespoon juice from can. Thicken lightly with cornstarch and water. Remove from heat and add whole butter. Serve with meat. Serves 4.

Escargot en croute livornese

1 12-ounce can escargot
1 tablespoon garlic
1 teaspoon dry parsley

Dining out requires a certain amount of finesse

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Arriving late, arguing over the bill, table hopping - this behavior is considered bad form when dining in a restaurant, according to Letitia Baldrige's Complete Guide to Executive Manners.

Baldrige outlines more preferable behavior in her book from the point of view of the host as well as the guest.

One item known to provoke argument is the bill - who should pay? For hosts, the best way to avoid confusion is to make it clear beforehand that they intend to pay the bill. Hosts are also responsible for setting a day and time and making arrangements for the evening out.

If they clearly have been invited, guests should not argue when the check comes, Baldrige emphasizes. They can do the inviting and paying the next time.

When making invitations, try to extend them at least three days in advance. Guests should not keep hosts waiting for an answer, but should provide a response the same day.

Whoever arrives first for a lunch or dinner date may wait at the table, but eating or drinking should be avoided until the other party arrives.

If the other person is late, call the office (or home) after 15 minutes. If no one there knows where the person is, it is acceptable to order a drink and wait up to 40 minutes. Then either order lunch or call the waiter and explain the situation. The waiter should be provided with a $5 or $10 tip after his table has been tied up for such a long time.

In addition, Baldrige offers advice about ordering. The host should allow the guest to order first. The host may point out specific menu items which are known to be good. If a guest orders an expensive item, but no one else has, order the same thing. Otherwise the guest may feel uncomfortable.

From the guests' point of view, never order one of the most expensive items on the menu unless the host encourages it.

At the meal, the host should wait until all guests are served before beginning a cocktail, wine or any food. The guest of honor should be the first to start eating.

If a problem arises with the food or service, the host should not complain to the guests or make a scene with the waiter. Make a simple apology to one of the guests and complain to the manager out of the guests' earshot.

The guest, however, should not complain to anyone regardless of the situation.

"Don't criticize the food. If a bug crawls out of your salad, dispense with it without making anyone aware of the incident. If you are missing something like a fork, mention it casually to your host...The guest is not supposed to call the waiter to the table," Baldrige states.

As for tipping, it is standard to give the waiter 15 percent of the total bill in most restaurants. In an expensive restaurant, give 20 percent of the bill. This amount is broken down into 75 percent for the waiter and 25 percent for the table captain and busboy.

Other people to remember are the wine steward, $3 to $5 a bottle; the ladies' room attendant, $1 per female guest using the facilities; coat room attendant, $1 per coat; doorman, $1 for summoning the car or providing a taxi and the garage attendant, $1 or $2 for bringing the car to the front.

Nightclub provides atmosphere

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

The key word to describe Rumorz must be atmosphere. Located on Merriman Road in Westland, the nightclub has a two-level dance floor, strobe lights, black lights, a 70-foot long bar, mirrors with fluorescent colors, a video screen and a true eye catcher - the disc jockey is stationed between a giant pair of white, plastic lips. Atmosphere.

"A lot of the people come here to dance," said bar manager Sheri LaLone.

Rumorz is large, too, with a capacity of 650 people.

The nightclub usually features Top-40 dance music, LaLone said, but the disc jockey occasionally throws in a rock song, just to keep the dancers on their toes so to speak.

Introduced three weeks ago, Wednesday has become new music night. Instead of the traditional dance music, the club features new wave songs. Although it is in the experimental stages, new music night seems to be a hit, LaLone said.

Other club specials: Wednesday is also the night for 50 cent drinks, until 11 p.m.; Thursday nights, drinks are 15 cents until 11 p.m.; drinks on Friday and Saturday nights are 75 cents until 10 p.m.

Rumorz nightclub (above) is located on Merriman Road, in Westland.

Also, Friday is college night. Customers with valid student identification do not have to pay a cover charge. The Saturday specialty is "south of the border" drinks.

Usually, LaLone said, club clientele ranges in age from 21 to 35 or 40 years old. Again, she stressed, these people love to dance.

"The dance floor is packed all night."

In mind of the upcoming holiday, the club is planning a Halloween party for Oct. 28. Customers will have an extra hour of dancing because Daylight Savings Time goes into effect that night.

"It's a lot of fun here," LaLone said. "There is always something going on."

The club is open from 8 p.m. until 2 a.m., Tuesday through Saturday.

Eateries offer fine fare

In the mood for a romantic candlelit dinner? A good pizza? A stack of nachos and a cold beer?

Many area restaurants are combining fine dining with a casual touch, allowing their customers a wide range of choices under one roof.

Below is a list of some of these area eateries including family diners, grills, ethnic restaurants, bars and combinations of all of the above.

BJ'S BOWERY, in Canton Township, offers a large menu complete with deli sandwiches, ribs and fish.

"We have everything from hamburger to New York strip steak," boasted owner Bob Czerniak.

The most expensive item at BJ's is a slab of ribs, $13.95. But most selections are less than $10, Czerniak said.

In addition, the restaurant offers a special deal to moviegoers. Anyone who buys a drink or sandwich is provided with a coupon to Canton Cinema allowing admission for $3.75.

The restaurant is open from 11 a.m. to 2 a.m., Monday through Saturday, and from noon to 2 a.m. on Sundays. American Express, Master Card and Visa credit cards are accepted.

CHUCK MUER'S RESTAURANT, in Wayne, offers a variety of choices including freshly-made pasta, ribs and steaks.

"We're mostly noted for our fresh seafood," said Shannon Dwyer, dining room manager.

The restaurant also serves liquor and offers a wine list. For special occasions, a 65-seat banquet room is available.

Tasty dishes are served up in many local eateries. Jack Ringwood (above) helps prepare meals at Chuck Muer's, in Wayne. ANP photo by Werner Slocum/staff photographer

Hours of operation are 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. for lunch, Monday through Friday; 3 to 5 p.m. for the early bird special (20 percent off dinner items); 3 to 10 p.m. for dinner, Monday through Thursday; 3 to 11 p.m. for dinner, Friday; 4 to 11 p.m. for dinner, Saturday and noon to 8 p.m. for dinner Sunday. The restaurant is located on the corner of west-bound Michigan Avenue and Wayne Road.

RANCH HOUSE, in Belleville, specializes in family dining, according to Carole Cullin, manager.

Menu items include seafood, steak, meatloaf, sandwiches and chicken. The most popular dessert item is the hot apple dumpling with a special cinnamon sauce, Cullin said.

In addition, the restaurant offers a special seafood buffet from 3 to 8 p.m., Saturdays. The $9.95 buffet is "all-you-can-eat" and includes access to the salad bar. On Sundays, the restaurant offers a similar buffet for $6.95 which includes ribs and two other entrees.

Another restaurant specialty is the mini-dinner, served from 2 to 5 p.m., Monday through Saturday. The $2.95 special provides sized-down meal portions and comes with soup and choice of potato.

Restaurant hours are 7 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Thursday; 7 a.m. to 10 p.m., Fridays; 7 a.m. to 9 p.m., Saturdays and 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., Sundays. Personal checks and cash are accepted as payment. The restaurant is located at Belleville Road at I-94.

ROMAN FORUM, in Canton Township, offers a variety of Italian and American entrees including veal, pasta, steaks and seafood, said Greg Gatto, owner.

The restaurant, which maintains a casual atmosphere, also serves beer, wine and cocktails.

Belleville freshman wins cross-country title

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

A Belleville freshman is the winner of the 1989 Wolverine 'A' Conference cross country title.

Ann Gray, a 13-year-old freshman, who is completing her first year of varsity competition, emerged as the No. 1 runner at the conference championships staged Saturday at Willow Park.

Gray covered the dew-slickened course in 20:09, beating her closest rival across the finish line by 20 seconds.

"She is just phenomenal," said Belleville coach Sam Vicchy of the newly-crowned champ. "She's just a fantastic talent."

Beaten earlier in the season by Wyandotte's Michele Sigel, Gray served notice that she was the one the field of more than 50 runners would have to catch at the league meet.

The champ bolted from the field early in the race and found no challengers during the rest of the race.

Gray's first-place performance staked the Tigers to an overall fourth-place conference finish. Trenton won the league meet by nipping undefeated Monroe 51-52. The two will share the 1989 overall championship. Trailing the co-champs in the final standings were: Wyandotte (82), Belleville (87), Fordson (123), Lincoln Park (170), and Wayne Memorial (198).

Belleville also placed ninth with Carmelita Martell (22:15), who was also awarded all-conference recognition. (The top 10 finishers automatically are placed on the all-league team).

— Sam Vicchy
Belleville High coach

Other Belleville runners who counted in the scoring include: Taira Jared, who finished 19th (23:00); Jessica Boelter, 29th (24:03); Amy Fisher, 31st (24:16).

Vicchy said he was "very pleased" with his team's efforts at the conference meet.

"We have four freshmen and a sophomore on this team," Vicchy said, "and when you have young athletes you never know how they will respond to the challenge."

"Let me say that I am very pleased with each and every member of this club," Vicchy added.

Before the Tigers can wrap up the year they have a date to compete in the Class A regional championships. The regionals will be staged Saturday in Riverview. The top three teams, along with the top 15 runners, excluding the members of the top three teams, will automatically compete in the state championships.

In the meantime, undefeated Monroe retained the conference title in the men's division. The Trojans garnered 22 points for their second straight title. Wyandotte placed a distant second with 60 points, followed by Belleville (60), Belleville (63), Wayne (125), Trenton (138), Fordson (149), Southgate Anderson (208) and Lincoln Park (224).

Monroe's Keith Lapard won the individual title as he toured the course in 16:52.

Belleville's best was Troy Adams, who was joined on the all-conference team by teammate Jason Kidwell. Adams had the sixth best time (17:28), while Kidwell turned in the eighth best time of 17:30.

Other Belleville finishers were Gary Knowlton, who just missed all-league when he crossed the finish line in 11th (17:54). Pete Laframboise was 19th (18:19) and Pabo Caba was 20th (18:32).

Belleville finished the dual meet league season with an 8-2 overall record and a 5-2 league record.

Preps bring curtain down on football campaign

Romulus to host Tigers

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

"It would be a great way for them to end the season," noted Dan Henry, who is rounding out his first-year as Romulus High's head football coach.

"Them", in this case, is Belleville. And the Tigers of Belleville High will meet Romulus in the 1989 football finale for both teams.

"If they can beat us," Henry continued, "it would give them a winning season. It would be a great way for them to end a season."

However, don't expect Henry and his Eagles to be obliging. They are on the verge of ending one of their better years. They're 3-5 overall and, after giving Ann Arbor Pioneer fits last week, Romulus has emerged as a team to be respected.

Pioneer had defeated the last score of 99-0. They managed to scrape up a TD in the first period and a six-pointer in the third to win a 13-0 South Central Conference victory over the Eagles Friday night.

On paper, when you consider that Belleville has lost veteran quarterback Jeremy Ison to an injury, and running back John Zaccaria, the Tigers' leading rusher, may not be in the lineup because of an injury, the Eagles should have the edge.

"We're hurting," said Belleville interim head coach Sam Villa, "but our kids realize the rivalry between our two schools, and we're going to give it everything we got."

Pioneer scored in its first drive of the game, putting together a drive that culminated with Bryan Newman's five-yard touchdown sprint.

The Romulus defense then shut down the Pioneers, who failed to get on the scoreboard again until midway in the third period, when Damon Jacobs punted in from the one.

Romulus had an excellent opportunity to score. In the second period, after safety Virgil Davis picked off a Pioneer pass, quarterback Chris Jones put together a 61-yard drive that moved the Eagles to the Pioneer two-yard line, where the senior QB was intercepted.

"If we had scored that TD, it could have helped turn the game around for us," Henry said. "We could have gone into the locker room tied or up by one. It was a big disappointment. But it happens."

Jones also clicked with receiver Tim Kosikowski on two passes for 17 and 15 yards in the first period that gave the Eagles momentum. But that drive ended inside the Pioneer 30-yard line where the Romulus gave up the ball on downs.

Pioneer, a two-time Class A state champ, had no problem stopping the Eagles' ground

2 last-quarter Wyandotte touchdowns stop Belleville

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Belleville let Wyandotte off the hook twice Friday night and fell before the homecoming crowd, 21-14.

The Tigers scored in the first period on tailback Ron Hunter's 11-yard burst to grab a 6-0 lead then, after Wyandotte went up 7-6 in the second quarter, Belleville came back after the intermission with a spectacular 65-yard touchdown run by John Perry, who lifted the Tigers to a 14-7 advantage.

But the Belleville defense couldn't hold the Bruins who cashed in on a Tiger turnovers and also put together a second sustained drive to put 14 points on the scoreboard in the final quarter of the Wolverine 'A' Conference season.

"That final quarter was a nightmare for us," said Belleville coach Sam Villa, who ends his first year as interim coach Friday when he takes his Tigers over to neighboring Romulus. "Because of injuries, we had to make some changes and the kids responded. Those two fourth-quarter Wyandotte TDs just killed us."

Commenting on the Romulus game, Villa said that he expects a lot of trouble from their final opponent of the season.

"They're lot like Wayne - they have an exceptional quarterback who can pass and run."

Due to the injury to their starting quarterback Jeremy Ison, who is out for the season with a broken ankle, Villa used junior John Yocum in the QB slot. And he also converted Hunter into a running back to replace halfback John Zaccaria, the Tigers' leading rusher.

Perry had one of his better days in the backfield. He was called on 16 times and picked up 104 yards.

Yocum, who tossed to Hunter for the two-point conversion after the Tigers' third period TD, is gaining confidence in his role as starting quarterback.

"I believe he will be a good one," Villa said. "He's an excellent athlete and once he gains the varsity experience, his confidence will grow."

In other Wolverine 'A' Conference games, undefeated Fordson rolled to its seventh straight (eighth overall) victory at the expense of Lincoln Park, 28-16, to win the conference title outright; Monroe coasted past Southgate Anderson, 34-6, while Wayne Memorial won a slugfest over Trenton, 48-28.

Robichaud enjoys feast at expense of Inkster

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Robichaud may have lost its football crown to Highland Park. And the Bulldogs have no hope of reaching a post-season playoff berth.

But Coach Bob Yauck and his gridders were definitely ready Friday afternoon for natural rival Inkster. With junior quarterback Tyrone Wheatley putting on a one-man show, the Bulldogs buried Inkster, 38-0, in their final Suburban Athletic Conference game of the season.

While the Bulldogs take on undefeated Bay City John Glenn at 3:30 p.m., Inkster will clash with Farmington at 2 p.m. Saturday in their season's finales.

Title-bound Bay City has put together a string of eight victories and, last year, Glenn knocked Yauck and the Bulldogs out of the Class B playoffs.

Robichaud would like to reciprocate.

"They're awesome," commented Yauck, on the pending game.

"Look at their record (8-0). That speaks for itself."

Lake Orion is also tough. It is coming off of a 35-6 victory over South Central Conference power, Adrian.

Wheatley, an all-state candidate, played less than two quarters, but in that time span he destroyed the Vikings as he scored two touchdowns, passed for a third, and was a perfect three for three with his passes for 47 yards. He carried the ball four times for an additional 66 yards.

Robichaud exploded for 26 points in the first period. Wheatley, on the second play from scrimmage, ran 44 yards for the TD. Then, minutes later, the Bulldogs were on the scoreboard again thanks to Shawn Taylor's five-yard burst. Wheatley's pass to Robert McClain accounted for the two-point conversion.

Before the quarter ended, Fred Matthews cashed in on a 15-yard, off-tackle run for a six-pointer and Wheatley teamed up with Robert Stewart for another 10-yard TD pass.

Wheatley, playing safety, also ran back an Inkster fumble 22 yards for a TD, and Taylor chalked up his second touchdown, a three-yarder, in the third period to round out the defending scoring.

The victory was even sweeter for the Bulldogs because they played before one of their larger homecoming crowds.

In other SAC games, Highland Park eked out a 6-0 victory over Oak Park to win its first conference football crown since 1985; River Rouge trounced cellar-dweller, Ecorse, 33-12, while New Haven shot down the Flyers of Willow Run, 48-16.

Coast is clear

With Robert Brooks (34) clearing the coast, Robichaud running back Eddie Lawrence (with ball) makes a dash toward the Inkster goal line. Robichaud crushed Inkster 38-0 for their fifth Suburban Athletic Conference victory in six starts. ANP photo by Werner Slocum/staff photographer

Inkster to host playoffs

Dearborn Divine Child, the defending Class B district basketball champ, and ranked No. 2 in the state polls this year, will be the overwhelming favorite to win the girls' district basketball tournament next month at Inkster High.

Inkster High has been designated as the host for the district tournament (No. 40).

Along with the hosts, Inkster,

Ypsilanti won the South Central Conference title with a 46-0 thrashing of Ann Arbor Huron. The Braves finished the SCC season with an untarnished 4-0 record. In other SCC games, Lake Orion turned back Adrian, 35-6.

and the Falcons of DC, other teams assigned to the district are Allen Park Cabrini, Ann Arbor, Robichaud and Willow Run.

George Thompson, athletic director at Inkster High, said the pairings for the district will be announced at a later date. There is a $3 admission charge to all district games.

Inkster has share of league lead Vikings hand Oak Park a first setback

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Outscoring Oak Park 19-8 in the third period, Inkster High cagers won a key Suburban Athletic Conference girls' basketball game Thursday night, 45-39, that lifted the Vikings into a tie for first place with the Redskins.

Oak Park defeated Coach Dwight Hotchkiss's Vikings the first time around, 46-37. Both teams are now 7-1 in the SAC.

"I believe I can say that we dominated this game," Hotchkiss said. "We had opened up the lead several times but they would come back in spurts."

Tawana Green, who tossed in eight of her 10 points in that decisive third period, and Alexis

Watson, who also finished with 10, provided the Vikings with the scoring power.

Watson came up with three steals and three assists that helped break the game open. Lotanya Williams also was given the tough assignment of neutralizing Oak Park's leading scorer, Sandy Williams. Williams held her to one field goal for the evening.

The Vikings, however, are still having problems at the free throw line, where they cashed in on six of 13 chances. They hit 32 percent (18 of 56) from the field.

In their rematch with winless Ecorse, the Vikings rolled to a 32-6 halftime advantage and went on to a 54-21 victory.

Watson led all scorers with 11 points.

The victory over Oak Park may be meaningless for the Vikings' title ambitions if they lose one of their next two crucial games, Hotchkiss noted. Inkster met Highland Park Tuesday and will meet River Rouge tonight. Both games are on the road.

"If we lose one game in the stretch, it will open the door to the title for Oak Park again," Hotchkiss cautioned.

In the meantime, Romulus wasted Sue Molenda's 11 points as the Eagles fell to Adrian, 62-25, in a South Central Conference game. The loss dipped Romulus's SCC record to 1-4 on the year.

On Tuesday, Coach Tim Cullen's Eagles took on non-conference rival, Edsel Ford, and lost a 61-37 decision. Kelly Tessin scored 11, Carmita Brown added 10 while Molenda finished with nine for the Eagles.

Cullen was pleased with Tessin's performance.

"She was given some quality time on the court and played well," Cullen said.

Cullen and the Eagles have an international game scheduled for Friday night when they meet Essex, Ont. The two teams will meet in Essex.

Romulus also is designated as the host school for a Class A district tournament. Area and local teams that will shoot it out for the post-season title include Belleville, Taylor Truman, Kennedy, Southgate Anderson and Romulus.

Tiger swimmers hit losing stride

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Belleville's dreams of finishing second in the Wolverine 'A' Conference faded last week as Coach Greg Cooper's Tigers dropped a 100-71 decision to Wayne Memorial. The loss left Belleville with a 1-3 won-lost league record.

"We didn't swim well last week," Cooper said, and went on to attribute his team's 86-83 victory over Ypsilanti "as probably lucky". The meet went right down to the final event, the freestyle relay, and the Tigers pulled it out.

In the relay, Cooper had the winning combination with Samantha Thompson, Kristin Curtis, Jennifer Snure and Debbie Chatzka, who turned in a 4:25.75 Ypsi was clocked in 4:26 for second place.

The Tigers also posted five other firsts. They won the medley relay with Rachel Jackson, Jennifer Cadwell, Shelene Reed, and Carrie Harrison (2:18.43).

Snure surfaced the winner in the 200-yard freestyle (2:10.62), and became a double winner when she won the 100-yard breaststroke (1:18.79). Curtis also was a double winner. She had the best time for the 200-yard individual medley (2:37.94) and the 100-yard backstroke (1:14.73).

Belleville also received winning performances from Reed, in the 100-yard butterfly (1:14.52).

Belleville had its problems against Wayne. The Tigers managed only two first places -

Snure, in the 200 IM (2:30.42), and Curtis, in the 100-yard backstroke (1:12.57).

Cooper and his Tigers return to the league waters this week. They have a 7 p.m. engagement today with Wyandotte after swimming Fordson yesterday. Both meets are in the home pool.

Belleville's Jenny Snure (above) heads for the finish and a first place in the 200-yard medley. The Tigers, however, managed only two first places and lost to league rival, Wayne Memorial. ANP photo by Werner Stocum/staff photographer

Bulldog runners unbeaten

Robichaud's Suburban Athletic Conference cross country title express remained on schedule last week as Coach Jim Hadley's runners sped past Ecorse, 18-45, to remain undefeated in the league. The Bulldogs are 7-0 on the league year.

With Frank Hayes and Billy Orsette setting the pace over the snowy terrain, the Bulldogs took five of the six top places. Hayes and Orsette finished 1-2. Other Robichaud runners who counted in the scoring were Brian Skinner (fourth), Romney Smith (fifth) and Francis Curto (sixth).

Whether Hadley's comets will take a perfect record into the conference championships on Nov. 1 will depend on the outcome of this week's triangular meet with Oak Park and Rouge.

They may not be watching for you

Young trick-or-treaters will be going from house to house and in their excitement, they may run into the street without looking. So it's up to you to stay alert, and be on the lookout for little goblins.

DRIVE CAREFULLY - KIDS BE CAREFUL WHEREVER YOU GO AND FOLLOW THESE HALLOWEEN SAFETY TIPS

- Cross only at corners. Never cross the street between parked cars or in the middle of the block.
- Wear a costume that makes it easy for you to walk, see and be seen.
- Plan your Trick-or-Treat routes with your family. Pick streets that are well-lighted.
- Have a parent, older brother or sister go Trick-or-Treating with you. Always travel in groups.
- If you must go out at night, make certain that your costume is light in color and carry a flashlight.
